

“ESSENTIAL WORKER” TEAMS

SUPERLATIVE WINNER

This year, this award goes to those individuals who were truly our own Superheroes during this pandemic, our own “Essential Workers,” if you will. Our Sanitation Crew who made it possible to reopen and stay open with new and increased sanitizing routines and procedures, lead by Kayla Savage, David Kucel, and Oakley Cole throughout the year, the crew of cleaners over the many months including Gabby Strait, Elsa Buseck, Danielle Steding, Danielle Smith, Kelly Geiger, May Issa, Jordan Siarkowski, Chris Smullen, Rachel Hidde, Belinda Steding, Marissa Strait, Dustin Burroughs, Ed Bauman, Jr., Holly Hamel, Kaden Steele, Shawn Sims, Maria Lomanto, Rick Allen, Donnie Wilder, Jeremy Douglass, and Heather Van Buren ordering supplies. Megan Kucel and Shawn Czadzeck for signage and communication efforts related to cleaning and many other new procedures. Cody O’Meara for all the IT support we needed created, such as, the daily assessment.

For our initial masks and also gowns, that were cut for a local hospital, thank you to BJ Smith, Kevin Tomlinson, and Eric Martin who worked over the shutdown on these essential items.

For our essential work of payroll and endless PPP loan paperwork, Mary Weber (who never took a day off even when we were shutdown), Cindy Moyer and Tim Beckett.

Our Health and Safety COVID-19 Task Force, Anthony Smida, Eric, Tim, Tricia Martin, Jared Eckler, Dave, Megan, Sarah Eckler and Pam Goldswor who all spent endless hours strategizing how to keep partners safe and dealing with unknown questions from Partners of all kinds, that there is not a handbook for and keeping up on new guidelines and numbers non-stop.

Many other partners have since stepped up to participate in sanitizing and we thank you, too! Thank you to all mentioned for taking on extra responsibilities, extra stress, and extra worries. You kept us safe and made us feel comfortable coming to work each day.
