

SARAH GRAY

SUPERLATIVE WINNER

This former Communication ambassador and Partner of the Year can now add Grit to the long list of values that she embodies. Sarah is the type of partner that makes voting for just one superlative difficult! She received votes all across the board and would have been well-deserving of any of our superlatives. Sarah has gained company-wide respect for her attention to detail and incredible accuracy. Whether in her years in Tipping or working with our Sorting and crust stock teams, her knowledge of process, inventory, and ability to catch anything that's off is invaluable and never ceases to amaze anybody who works with her! She is our human spell-check and as ticket maker, is absolutely essential to any production that we do. Sarah, we can't express our gratitude enough. This vote for Sarah perfectly sums up her grit and remarkable dedication that keeps us running like a well-oiled machine:

"Despite her personal challenges, she never misses a beat in knowing what is going on to an astonishing level of detail with every order and ticket she touches. She owns the ticket making process, our raw material and color crust material inventory, and is never wrong or inaccurate. How she has managed her personal life while also taking care of business, coming in super early, on weekends or doing work and answering emails late at night, she is the best to ever do the job and never makes excuses for not getting things done, she makes it work and happen no matter what. She also worked to help train others and has been patient in doing so. She knows her job so well and keeps track of many others work and often finds and corrects their mistakes."
