

We've always described our Rocks Award as going to someone who is focused on collaboration to create something amazing. Through words, actions, and a goal-focused attitude this Partner generates a positive vibe around them, giving their team a feeling they can overcome anything.

Like the lead in a rock band, this person creates awesome stuff, but brings the whole band along for it. Like a sweet guitar solo, this person handcrafts things that make people say 'woah' and 'heck yeah' and bop their heads. Like a song that you can't help but dance to, this person gets everyone feeling positive and ready to take on the world.

So, obviously, Brett VanNostrand has been selected as our 2024 recipient of the ROCKS award!

Anyone who has ever asked him for help on anything can personally attest to how willing he is and how capable he is, and how he makes it fun.

For years, every time we have an idea of something that we don't know how to make happen - we go to Brett and he always figures out a way and makes it better. Like our plane photo op area at the longevity lunch, or the full-size Mooper costume, or a giant baseball glove... or a million other things and every time he just figures it out and magically does it.

Brett goes beyond his role in our sample department to being a go to for so many things, our maker, our fixer, our builder, our carrier of heavy things. He does whatever is needed with his trademark humor and makes everyone he works with feel like he's got them and leaves 'em with a laugh to boot.

Thank you for rocking, Brett! Congratulations!
